DIRECTIONS.

EVERY free, able bodied, white male citizen of the age of eighteen, and under the age of forty-five years, whether he be present or absent from his place of residence, within the bounds of any standing company, must be enrolled in it, unless he is either absolutely exempted from military duty, or holds a military commission, or warrant out of the company; or is enlisted into one raised at large. The Captains or Commanding Officers of standing companies, will therefore enrol every such citizen, and also those, who shall, from time to time, arrive at the age of eighteen years, and those who, being of the age of eighteen years, and under the age of forty-five years, shall come to reside within their company's bounds. And it is their duty, either to notify such citizen of his enrolment, by a non commissioned Officer, without delay, or to give him legal warning to attend a company, battalion or regimental muster or training, which of itself, is sufficient notice of his enrolment.

The law requires that the Clerk of a Company shall keep a fair and exact Roll of the Company, together with the state of the arms and equipments belonging to each man in it, and that he shall annually revise the Company Roll, in the month of May, and correct the same from time to time, as the state of, and alterations in the company may require. But non commissioned officers, or privates, who shall have been convicted of any infamous crime, shall not disgrace the ranks; but, shall forthwith be disenrolled from the Militia.

Of the persons thus required to be enrolled, some are exempted from all military duties, (excepting those of "keeping themselves constantly furnished with proper arms and equipments;" of "carrying, or sending them on the first Tuesday of May, annually, to the place of company inspection;" and of "attending the election of company officers," from which duties, no person enrolled, is, at any time, exempted,) upon condition of their paying to the Treasurer of the Town, or District, within which they reside, two dollars, annually, and producing his receipt therefor, to the Commanding Officer of the company, on or before the first Tuesday of May, in each year. But if any such person shall not comply with this condition, his Captain is obliged to require of him the performance of all the duties of a private in the company, during the year; and such person is subject to the impositions of the like fines, and penalties, as other privates are, who are neglectful of duty, or are deficient in the arms and equipments required by law.

By a decision of the S. J. Court, a non commissioned officer, or private is not subject to the penalty of the law, for a deficiency in his arms and equipments, until he shall have received six months notice of his enrolment, upon his arrival at the age of eighteen years; but after that he is required to be constantly furnished with them.

As by the Company Roll, the election of Company Officers is to be regulated, and the true state of the Company is at all times to be ascertained; and as this is the foundation of all the returns, the necessity of great attention on the part of the Clerk of the Company, to its correction, is apparent, and its Commanding Officer will always be held responsible for its accuracy.

It will be perceived, that this form of a Company Roll, contains more blank columns, than that which has been in use heretofore; and the entries in all the columns, which are indicated at the top of them, must be made against the name of every individual borne on it, according to his actual circumstances, and the state of his arms and equipments, on the first Tuesday of May. The time of the arrival at full age of any minor in the company, and any changes which may have taken place, after the Roll shall have been thus corrected, on that day, in the condition of every member of it, during the year, for which there is no distinct head of entry in the form, will be noted in the blank column.

That the disputes respecting the legality of the election of Company officers, which have been so destructive of the good order and harmony of the Militia, may as much as possible be avoided, the columns distinguishing minors from the other members of the company are introduced, to enable the Presiding Officers to decide who are legal voters, at the time of any Election of Company Officers which shall be held. The Commanding Officers of Companies, before issuing their orders for the election of Officers, will, therefore, carefully revise and correct their Rolls, and will submit the same, together with proper evidence of the notice given to the electors, to the Presiding Officer, who will adjourn the meeting, if the order for holding the election authorizes it, unless legal notice was given to all the electors of the Company, or the right to take exceptions to the want of it is waived by their presence at the meeting.

Every non commissioned officer and private, who is twenty one years old and upwards, and whose name is borne on the Roll, either as one liable to common and ordinary duty, or as a conditional exempt, or as temporarily exempted from duty by a Surgeon's certificate, is considered as a legal voter at the elections of Company Officers, and must be notified accordingly; and all persons who may be entitled to vote at the Elections of Company Officers, who have not been enrolled, and, for this cause, have not been duly notified, when appearing at such election without notice, shall then be enrolled, and admitted to vote for such Officers.

Among those who are absolutely exempted from military duty, and of course from enrolment, are "preceptors of academies and school masters while actually employed as such." These terms are understood to apply to preceptors of incorporated academies, and to school masters of such public schools, as are required to be supported by law. Preceptors and school masters of private academies and schools are of course liable to be enrolled, and are accordingly legal voters at the Elections of Company Officers.
